TO THE CLASS OF 1993:

"In the world of tomorrow, a bigot may be far more dangerous than a bad reader." Arthur W. Combs

Your graduation from high school represents another important milestone in your life. But, it is only a beginning. You will graduate into a world of rapid change, uncertainty, and opportunity. As you meet the challenges of the unknown future, you must be prepared to change yourselves, adapt to changing conditions, maintain an open-mindedness, increase your level of tolerance, and resist shallow notions of what is right and wrong. Resistance to change will be deleterious to you and society. Continuous education, on the other hand, will enable you to achieve high levels of self-direction, independence, responsibility, problem-solving, and avoid the risks of bigotry.

Richard Kisiel
Superintendent of Schools

ADMINISTRATION

TO THE CLASS OF 1993:

I hope that each of you will carry many beautiful memories of Dighton-Rehoboth wherever you may go. I hope that your teachers have made a lasting impact on your lives. Surely the friends you have made will give you many memories that you can cherish throughout your lives. The good times at school, the hard work, the togetherness, and the successes should give each of you many pleasant memories of D-R for the years to come.

Your view in life will play a large part in any success that comes your way. You will be a success if you have

The willingness to stand alone.

The confidence to challenge the conventional.

The unswerving commitment to a vision.

The compassion to care more than others will for you.

The passion for being on top.

The courage to do as you dream.

May each of you enjoy a lifetime of happiness and good health.

Marshall Sawyer
Principal

TO THE CLASS OF 1993:

Congratulations and best wishes to each member of the Class of 1993 upon your successful completion of 12 years of schooling that culminated in the awarding of a diploma from Dighton-Rehoboth. I hope each of you continues learning throughout your lifetime whether it be college, trade school, on-the-job training, the military service or just reading on your own. Consider setbacks that you will face from time to time as merely learning experiences that will make you a better person and will lead the way to future successes. May each of you enjoy good health and fortune.

George H. Petrin
Assistant Principal

TO THE CLASS OF 1993:

Congratulations to the Class of 1993. Your years at Dighton-Rehoboth Regional High School have given you a firm foundation for the future. Developmental growth, academic achievements, a sense of identity and strong values are essential for the citizens of tomorrow. May you take the best qualities you possess and continue to grow and develop. Be proud and live courageously. Best wishes and much happiness to all!

Francis M. Marcille
Assistant Principal
Director of Occupational Education

TO THE CLASS OF 1993:

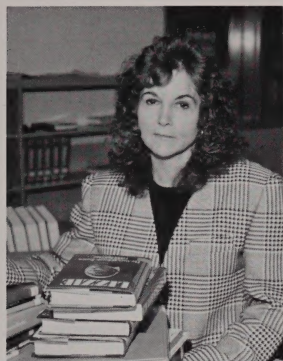

Being of Gaelic origin and an ardent follower of St. Patrick, I wish you an Irish Blessing:

"May there always be work for your hands to do.
May your purse always hold a coin or two.
May the sun always shine on your window pane
May a rainbow be certain to follow each rain.
May the hand of a friend always be near you.
May God fill your heart with gladness to cheer you."

have enjoyed knowing you and working with you.
wish the very best, now and always.

In Memorie of Corey Lamarre

1975-1989

When we were in eighth grade the students from Rehoboth suffered a major loss. One of our class members was killed in a car accident. This accident left us all very upset. In time the pain went away, but we never stopped thinking about Corey. Corey never got to finish eighth grade or attend high school and experience D-R.

The following poem was written the night of Corey's death. And expresses our feelings toward Corey. Corey, wherever you are, please remember how much we all miss you and that we will never forget you.

*So young, so innocent, so kind.
Why did the evil fingers of death
Have to come and take her life?
Never had a love
Never will.
She won't get old
She won't get married
She won't have kids
She won't even finish eighth grade.
I'll remember her
The way she was and the way she'll be forever.
Why did death have to come and take away such a young life?*

Never Thought

You stood by me through the years,
You were there for me
When I needed a friend,
When I needed a shoulder to cry on.

You helped me through the toughest times,
You took care of my wounds,
You believed in me.

You stood by me when most judged me.
you saw beneath the rough exterior to the beauty inside.

Though it would of been easy to desert me,
To leave me for the others,
You trusted in me,

I never once doubted you,
I treasure your friendship evenstill,
I don't know what I'd do with out you.

Now here we are,
Ready to go our separate ways,
Ready to face life with out the famliar faces.

We have to embark on a new beginning,
I will miss you the whole way.

Now, I will be here for you,
I will listen to you,
Believe in you,
Trust in you,
And care for you.

We have to say Good-Bye,
But I will never forget what you have done for me.

Good-Bye, but Never Forever!

Sitting: Mrs. Araujo. Standing (from Left to Right): Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. Coughlan, Mrs. Bzdula

The School would not be the same without these wonderful people

Mrs. Hanson

The yearbook staff would like to take this opportunity to thank the people who tend to go unrewarded in the bussle of high school life. Amongst these people are the Office Staff consisting of Mrs. Sullivan, Mrs. Araujo and Mrs. Bzdula with out them many of us would be lost.

The guidance office definitely would not be the same with out Mrs. Coughlan. She does many things to help the seniors out not only does she send out all of our transcripts to many colleges she is also always there to hear our problems with schools, colleges, etc.

Mrs. Hanson is the secretary in 218. She does amazing things for everyone in the school. She is the woman who, next to Mrs. Pridham and Mrs. Corey, helps the peerleaders the most. With out her who knows what the peerleaders would do.

Last but not least the yearbook staff would like to thank the Cafeteira staff. They have always had smiles on their faces for each of us even though they had to stand over the hot food serving us. The yearbook staff would especially like to thank Mrs. Abrams for all the good advice while standing in the lunch line.

The 1992-93 school year saw continued growth and increased involvement by D-R's Student Government. Under the outstanding leadership of President Erika Barrowclough and her fellow officers Caitlin Sullivan, Kerri Hayden, Erika Field, and Dan Santos, the Student Government was involved in many community involvement projects and school spirit and climate activities. A variety of school issues were addressed at the numerous meetings held and, as a result, student involvement at D-R was enhanced. The highlight of the 1992-93 Student Government year was the hosting of this year's spring SEMASC Conference. Over 400 student leaders from our neighboring schools in southern Massachusetts attended the highly successful conference. In addition to the officers, other senior members of Student Government who were instrumental in the planning of the conference were Kristen Lombardi and Erin Kenneally. All members of D-R's Student Government can be proud of their numerous accomplishments during the 1992-93 school year.

MUSIC

Within the past few years the Music Department of D-R has grown and improved significantly because of the tremendous dedication of Mrs. Conrad. Through her efforts, the Marching Ensemble was completely restructured. I suppose rehearsing in the pitch black can really improve one's coordination. Learning with Mrs. Conrad can be hard work, but in the end it's well worth it, she tries to make it as painless as she possibly can. The D-R Music Department has gained the respect of its peers, from an ambitious football crowd waiting the Marching Ensemble to a completely awesome silence in the gymnasium with both the Band and the Chorus performing. With Mrs. Conrad's enthusiasm the Chorus has just about tripled in size and length. The Band has noticeably grown in size and strength. More students have been selected into such organizations such as District, All-State, and SEMSBA, this would not have happened if it wasn't for all of her time and patience. She doesn't stop working us until we get things perfect. It seems tedious at first, but the long-run everyone seems to put out an excellent performance, whether it's the Winter Concert or the Spring "Pops" Concert. She puts her faith into the hardest of pieces and they always come out shining like diamonds. The Spring Musical is always a spectacular sight. The students enjoy the school plays just as much as the audience. Mrs. Conrad has also created a new singing group called Promusica. This group is highly selective to be in. One must first audition and then if selected they must attend all concerts, and as always Mrs. Conrad drives us to excellence. Mrs. Conrad always comes through for us and she never lets us down. She puts up with our nonsense (especially in first period Music Theory with Jenn Andrade, Matt Murray, Michelle Salgueiro, John Brochu, Dan LePage, Rob LePage, and Bob Baglini). She is always there to listen to our problems (even if she can't help she at least lends us her ear). Through the best of times and the worst of times she's always there for us, and we will always be here for her. It's tough for us Seniors to leave her (we're just one big family), but we will carry her forever in our hearts. Thank you Mrs. Conrad. We will remember you always.

Michelle Salgueiro
and Music Students

Other special thanks to Mr. Bigelow for helping to keep music alive at D-R.

The 1993 yearbook staff was small but very effective. Led by editor Meredith Haskell, the staff handled everything from selling yearbooks to setting up page layouts, cropping pictures, and composing and editing copy. Special thanks go to the following seniors (and one junior) who regularly gave up study periods, after school time, and even lunch periods to work: Dave Hartley, Kim Sullivan, Assistant Editor Michelle Salgueiro, and Assistant Editor Kim Irons. Thanks also go to sophomore Heather Haskell and freshman Anne Forstie who worked diligently on their sections of the yearbook. Last but not least, the staff wishes to thank their advisor, Mr. Harwood, for his help and the use of his office and desk throughout most of the second semester.

Good luck to everyone, and remember, the Class of 1993 can't be beat!!!!

The 1992 D-R Football Team finished the season with a 6-4 record. Three early victories came against Somerset, Bourne, and Wareham. However, the highlight of the Falcon season was the final three games. Against New Bedford Voke, the team rolled up their greatest point total of the season in route of a 41-14 victory. Four Falcons reached pay dirt as fullback Pete Monteiro, halfbacks Andy Fyfe and Josh Jonson, and quarterback Adam Dumont all scored touchdowns. The defense led by Jim Tessier, John O'Connell, and Jim Monson played very well. In the next game the Falcons traveled to Falmouth to play the Division 1 Clippers. Trailing by a score of 14-0, the 1992 squad scored 15 points in the last five minutes of the game to secure the victory. Adam Dumont and Andy Fyfe made big plays during the two touchdown drives, and with 29 seconds on the clock Jim Tessier kicked the PAT to give the Falcons a well deserved come-from-behind victory. On Thanksgiving day, the 1992 Falcons finally tied up the traditional series with Seekonk, by defeating the Warriors by a score of 26-0. On a wet soggy morning, the Falcon offensive line, consisting of Mark Alderson, Heath Rose, Brian Stone, Scott Dalpe and Mike Nunes was immense and controlled the game. Andy Fyfe had a great all-around game and Tom Santos played very well on special teams. With these three strong victories, the 1992 Falcon Football Team completed a very successful season.

The team had an overall record of nine wins, six losses, and four ties while qualifying for the MIAA Division II South Tournament for the first time ever. The team's fourth place finish also represented D-R's best finish in the competitive conference. The team was senior dominated with 13 of the 24 team members being seniors. Once again, these seniors provided the leadership and direction that the team needed. Charlie Ferris, Joe Castro, and Co-captain Matt Braga all earned numerous post-season honors. Co-captain Brendan Lynch was unanimously named to all of the area All-Star teams and was named to the prestigious Division II All-State Team.

Seperate Ways

I've been a nameless face for 12 long years
You all know me
Occasionally you'll think of me.
But I am very close
To all of you.
I am what has held you together for all this time
I am a feeling you all share,
Security!
That's right security.
Without me where would you be?
In a short time many of you will be leaving
Leaving me.
Don't be afraid
You will find me again
And when you do find me
I'll be the same.

-Meredith Haskell

Goodbyes

Goodbyes aren't very easy
But one thing is always true
Fond memories will be there forever
For you to go back to
You've been through alot,
You've met many people,
You've made many friends,
Who will never forget you.
So when you say goodbye
Remember all of us and all of the Wonderful memories you've made
Through the years.

-Ann Marie Rogers

Parting

The time has come for us to leave.
The security we all have felt is now ending.
We have been together for so long.
Now we may never see each other again.
All the things we never said
We may never get to say.
The loves we had that never knew,
That never will know.
The things we wanted to say
Will never be said.
The only thing left now to say
Is goodbye
And even thats hard to do.

Senior Class President

Good afternoon and welcome to the graduation exercises of the Class of 1993. This is a day that has been long awaited. Many of us are excited about the prospect of taking our first steps into the "real" world while others are hesitant about leaving the security of Dighton and Rehoboth. There are many bonds that have been formed with many different people throughout our lives in these two towns. Teachers who gave up many afternoons to help us with difficult assignments; parents who never gave up on us even through our most rebellious stages; friends who stood by us when no one else would; and fellow students who created the warm, friendly atmosphere of our school.

These bonds will be put to the test in a short time. As we leave behind the lives we know, we will also be leaving our families and friends for the first real time. New friendships and relationships will be formed within our new communities that will be life long.

As we take our first tentative steps into the adult world, we will look back on these times as the best in our lives. The memories that are permanent fixtures in our minds will be a reminder of the times we have shared as a community, a class, and most of all, as friends.

As a closing, I would like to thank all of the people who have stood by us. And most of all, to my fellow classmates, THANK YOU. Thank you for the advice, the laughter, and the tears that we have shared for the last four

This class leaves with an impressive list of achievements and accomplishments. As a class, parents, family and friends we should all be honored to have students graduate with such a superb record. I would like to give you just a few highlights from this class that will alert you to what you will be hearing today. It is important to note that this class has excelled in that endeavor that school is all about -- excellence in academics. In view of these magnificent accomplishments it shows a window to the future of our government, state, hospitals, and our world. It certainly will be a better place with accomplished leaders.

I'm honored to recognize the four National Merit Finalists and the five National Merit Commended students. That number of finalists and commended students has only been equaled once in the history of this school and is much, much higher than any area school. Most schools feel fortunate to have one finalist or commended students we have nine, and also our Honor Bowl team won 7 of 8 contests and finished in first place.

Our verbal college board scores were 28 points higher than the state average and 33 points higher than the national average. As a class we scored 503 in the math college boards which is 28 points higher than the state average and 26 points higher than the national average. These are significant differences. Overall, the college board scores of this class are the third highest in the last 25 years -- and probably in the history of the school. Although these are incredible feats to accomplish, a very special item to recognize is that the achievement test scores of this class are the highest in the last 25 years -- and again -- probably in the history of the school.

If you were to walk by our Guidance Center you would see a list on the window that shows the names of approximately 110 students who have been accepted to well over 40 schools. And if you examined that list you would note that these seniors have not only been accepted to many colleges -- but also to the very best colleges and universities in the country. What is not shown in that list is the plethora of scholarships awarded to the members of this class.

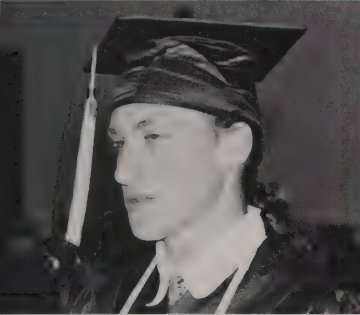

I would like to thank the teachers, advisors, and other faculty and parents who have kept us motivated and focused for us to make it here today. It makes us the best we can be.

Lastly, I would like to congratulate my class for working hard to achieve their goals. Today there are 183 young adults moving on to reach other goals that they have set for themselves. Out of this class of 183 students, 36 will be graduating with highest honors; 27 with high honors and another 24 students will be graduating with honors. That's almost one half of this senior class. These are just some of the highlights of this class. Besides the general accomplishments are a profusion of individual achievements that you will hear about today.

Thank you and congratulations to the best class -- the class of 1993.

Senior Class Vice-President

"The past is my heritage, the present is my responsibility, the future is my challenge." This is our class motto, but what do these words mean to us as a class? I am certain that each member of our class would interpret these words differently.

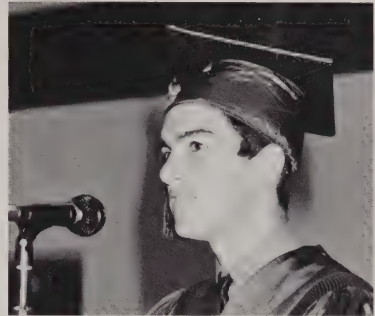

"The past is my heritage....." Some would say that this heritage is a source of pride to the present generation. These people would glorify the past and all of our accomplishments as a nation. There are others who look at our nation's past as a heritage of abuses and wrongdoings. For example, as we are beginning the 6th century after Columbus' voyage to the new world, many look at this discovery as a proud moment in history. However, many of the indigenous people and descendants of imported slaves view this as the beginning of a period of hardships and injustices which has not yet ended. Both groups view Columbus' voyage as a part of our collective heritage, whether they view it as good or bad. I view the heritage of the past as a record of successes and of failures, and I believe that as a people we must draw from this heritage and apply the results of the actions of our forefathers to our own actions.

"The present is my responsibility....." We must be responsible for our actions, for our successes and for our failures. But we must also be responsible for the mistakes of the former generations and for the future consequences of our present actions. The present must be our responsibility, because our present will become the heritage of the next generation. We must begin to view our actions in a different way from how we have in the past. By drawing from the results of the past, we may gain insight into the future. We must only take actions which will have a positive impact on not only our own futures, but also on the futures of others. We can no longer think of ourselves as citizens of Dighton or of Rehoboth, but as citizens of the world, equal and coexistent with all others. There is an old Iroquois saying that "in every deliberation, we must consider the impact of our decision on the next seven generations." This is our responsibility.

"The future is my challenge." It seems to me that the challenge of the future is to not repeat the mistakes of the past. We must try to resolve some of the problems of the past through action in the present. On August 28, 1963, Martin Luther King gave his famous "I have a dream" speech, in which he revealed his dream that in the future all people may live together in harmony. His future has become our present, but his dream has still not come to pass. We must not forget this and other dreams from the past, and we must adopt these dreams as the challenge for our future. We must not dwell upon and glorify the past while we ignore the problems of the present. It is time for a new way of thinking. We must try to right some of the wrongs of the past. Like those before us, we will make mistakes, but we must make every effort to avoid burdening future generations with the consequences of these mistakes. We must try to leave the world a better place than we found it. This is our challenge for the future.

David E. Panofsky

As we continue on in our lives, either in college or in the world of work, we know that, because of high school, we will be well prepared to face -- and conquer -- the challenges that lie ahead. When I entered Dighton-Rehoboth four very long years ago, I was a young, scared freshman, frightened by the cavernous school and the menacing upperclassmen. My first day was a dismal failure. I missed the bus and my father brought me to school. I was late, and I missed half of Mr. Sawyer's orientation speech. I was forced to sit down in the back of a room full of strangers. Little did I know that one day I would know every one of these strangers, by name and consider each one of them of my family.

School isn't just studying and learning preparing -- preparing for the real world, a world of challenges and decisions. As I head on to college, I am saddened, for I know that I probably won't see many of my classmates again. But the sadness is not my only emotion. I feel excitement and gratitude toward my family and my teachers for making my chance to further my education a reality. When a child first learns to walk, all he has is his parents to help him. Every time he falls, they pick him up, encourage him, and put him back on his feet once again. As we leave the towns of Dighton and Rehoboth, we leave behind our parents, teachers, and friends, the people who have helped us to succeed in our lives. They have always been there to pick us up when we have fallen, but now we need to rely on ourselves more than ever. Self motivation will be one of the greatest keys to our future. Whether we walk or whether we fall, as long as we keep trying, we will never fail.

Long ago someone wrote "The past is my heritage, the present is my responsibility, the future is my challenge." We, as a class, look upon past experiences and try to avoid the mistakes that we might commit in the present as we strive to become better people. Times are tough, but we are tougher. We will not only venture into the harsh realities of life, but we will meet them head on and conquer them, just as we have conquered so many challenges here at D-R. Parents and teachers, you have taught us well. We will try to make a positive contribution to our society. We will strive to exceed all of your expectations. We will not disappoint you.

Thomas K. Santos

Each student standing before you has reached a point in his or her growth to maturity that deserves recognition. Every one of us has bravely confronted, or at least has begun to confront, some of life's mysteries in search of explanations to quell our infinite curiosity. This challenging endeavor has encouraged us to question our existence, to seek answers where there are none to be handed out, to engage the forces of the universe in order to earn possession of the keys to humanity. Fortunately, I have been aided in my learning by an analogy, and that analogy is that human existence is much like a flame. Brilliantly exploding into being, the blindingly powerful spark roars into a flame as the first cry of the infant reverberates. For a time, childhood dances boldly within the light. As the flame gradually develops and self-realization dawns upon the individual, the youthful character evolves within to produce a tall and unfaltering brightness. Analysis of each flame rising and falling upon the tides of existence reveals that it can be perceived as not a love blinding illumination, but rather a kaleidoscope of color, of shades and variations - brilliant violets, blues, yellows, as well as mysterious and secretive grays and blacks. At times, the flame may shiver from forces unseen and unidentified; the faintest draft, a silent sigh, even, may cause the flame to flicker from the force surrounding it. Ultimately, these transient tremors have little effect upon the boundless vibrance of the flame, though. Only one challenge cannot be overcome by this great power - that of our inevitable passing. Eventually, the flame begins to fail.

The passionate heat and the revealing light fade. At last, the flame is extinguished, be it nobly, violently, quietly, or gently. Nevertheless, what begins with such energy remains brilliant for eternity within the collective memory of time, a flicker within an eye that will never truly vanish.

I believe mankind must learn to face existence with the force and passion of the flame, to join with others to create a roaring fire. Just as the spark metamorphosized into the flame, we too will be changed, augmenting the spontaneity and vibrance of our youth with the reason and responsibility of adulthood. Some aspects of our youth, however, can never be retrieved from the smoky recesses of the past. We must now blaze upon the world as brilliantly as we are able, before these exciting opportunities of life escape us. Thus our future is to be grasped as a challenge, not feared for its unknowns. The Class of 1993 stands before you eager to face this task. "The past is my heritage, the present is my responsibility, the future is my challenge." We accept this doctrine, and we have grown to recognize the importance of our past as a stepping stone along the stairway of existence, our present environment as a child that must be cared for and nurtured, and the future as a welcome and open opportunity. We have allayed our doubts and uncertainties, and exchanged our misgivings for the energy of challenge. We look toward our future and smile in invitation of possibilities that lie ahead.

As our paths lead us far from the safety and comfort of our youth and into the uncertain future, we accept life's challenge. Face us with what you will we are ready.

Graduation ceremonies much like this one occur annually all over the country, but this does not detract from the excitement and pride felt by their participants. Yet the students aren't excited simply because school is out, nor are the parents proud just because their children look spiffy in caps and gowns. On the contrary, the energy that pervades this glorious day is the result of years of hard work and the realization of a goal.

The students who are sitting before you have devoted much of their young lives to achieving excellence in their chosen fields of study. Here at Dighton-Rehoboth Regional High School, we have had the opportunity to grow as individuals by choosing our own courses and becoming involved in the myriad number of extra-curricular activities which have been offered to us. Although the certificates, newspaper clippings, snap shots, programs, and other memorabilia will become faded and tattered, it is our responsibility to see to it that the drive and the ambition that created them does not fade away.

While the prospect of being separated from our beloved teachers and classmates saddens us, this graduation ceremony should not be compared to a funeral service. Instead, a graduation is a bit like a wedding, for it is symbolic of the bond that is forming between the students and the rest of the world. For the past four years, we have been engrossed in our own little world, stretching and straining so that we may become assets to our college campuses, our workplaces, neighborhoods, and families. Despite the fact that, as students, the doors of D-R are closed behind us forever, infinitely many more doors remain waiting to be investigated. If the English novelist Harriet Martineau were here today, she would advise us, "You better live your best and act your best and think your best today; for today is the sure preparation for tomorrow and all the other tomorrows that follow." Today's youth have the responsibility of creating a better world for future generations, and each person has an important part to play in this effort.

Throughout our lives, we have had a wealth of interesting experiences and accomplishments; however, countless more await us. Our futures, no doubt, will be exciting, but they will also be challenging. There will be times when we will feel as though we want to quit because things are more difficult than we had anticipated. But it is at these times we must remember our teachers, parents, and friends who believed in us, thus helping us navigate the turbulent waters of childhood. Their faith, encouragement, and devotion should serve as an inspiration to us throughout our lives. While the fond memories of our mentors and peers are valuable, we must also rely upon our own strength and determination in order to be successful. According to John Quincy Adams, "Courage and perseverance have a magical talisman, before which difficulties disappear and obstacles vanish into air."

Because "the past is (our) heritage", it is important for us to cherish our memories of D-R. Our happier times shall bring smiles to our faces for many years to come, and the lessons which we learned from the troublesome times shall remain with us as we continue to change and grow. "The present is (our) responsibility", for now is the time for us to take an inventory of our knowledge and talents and to utilize them well. To do this, we must consider not only our own discoveries, but also, the wisdom of our elders. The next step is to face "the future, which is our challenge." Many of us may feel intimidated by the future, and for good reason; its outcome depends upon our actions. We need not, however, allow our anxieties to prevent us from fulfilling our goals. When we enrolled at D-R four years ago, most of us were a bit uncertain of our ability to learn trigonometry, sharpen our computer skills, take the SAT, audition for a play, or score the winning points; the list goes on. But we did accomplish these things, and we have earned our diplomas. We have proven that, in any endeavor, confidence, persistence, and dedication are the master keys to success.

"It's not the critic who counts, not the man who points out how the strong man stumbled, or where the doer of deeds could have done them better.

The credit belongs to the man who is actually in the arena, whose face is marred by dust and sweat and blood; who strives valiantly; who errs and comes short again and again, who knows the great enthusiasms, the great devotions, and spends himself in a worthy cause; who, at best, knows in the end the triumph of high achievement; and who, at the worst, if he fails, at least fails while daring greatly, so that his place shall never be with those cold and timid souls who know neither victory nor defeat."

Dear Seniors,

Do you believe it that its finally here GRADUATION? Who would have thought that the last 4 years would have gone by so fast? We all have had our share of problems (some more than others) but somehow we made it. Our problems have taught us right from wrong and have made us some how stronger.

I just want to take this time to thank everybody the faculty, family and most of all the class of 1993 for giving me some memories I always have. Senior year has been very busy for all of us but now that things have slowed down we can all sit back, take a deep breath, and remember all the times we have shared.

I would also like to thank Mr. Joseph Geoffroy and CHESTNUT HILL STUDIOS whose photographs appear in this publication. Last of all I would like to thank Mr. Harwood and the yearbook staff for all their time and patience.

Thank You!!
